Isaac Elnecave and Tony Crasi reviewed the OHBA Alternative Energy Code with the Committee. Mr. Elnecave indicated that the code was evaluated against 64 homes. The evaluation found that the code results in slightly more energy savings than the '09 IECC and a savings of $900 compared to the current energy code. Also, the code provides for blower door testing to be implemented 1 year from the effective date to allow for training.

Mr. Elnecave indicated that the code has been provided to DOE to determine its equivalency with the '09 IECC.

Tony Crasi and Isaac Elnecave are to work with the BBS staff on the code language and all other revisions of the energy code are to be dealt with by the full committee.
