

Chris Newbury
Deputy Regional Director – Chicago Region
FDIC Division of Risk Management Supervision

Chris Newbury was named Deputy Regional Director for Risk Management Supervision (RMS) of the FDIC's Chicago Region in September 2016. He oversees the risk management supervision of FDIC-insured financial institutions in the states of Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio, and Wisconsin.

Prior to moving to Chicago, he was Associate Director for Risk Management Examinations in the RMS Washington Office, overseeing problem bank supervision, enforcement, offsite monitoring, and certain applications. From 2007 through 2013, he was Associate Director for Risk Analysis in the Division of Insurance and Research, leading economists and financial analysts who assessed conditions and risks in the economy and the banking industry. He managed production of the FDIC's Quarterly Banking Profiles and was a contributor to the FDIC's 2012 Community Banking Study. Earlier, he worked in the RMS Washington Office as a review examiner, as an examination specialist working on policy matters, and as a senior capital markets specialist. He began his FDIC career in 1989 as an examiner in the Tulsa, Oklahoma and Atlanta, Georgia field offices.

Chris is a graduate of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and has earned the Chartered Financial Analyst designation.