

Kevin R. Allard
Interim Superintendent
Ohio Department of Commerce
Division of Financial Institutions

Kevin R. Allard was appointed Interim Superintendent of the Ohio Division of Financial Institutions on December 15, 2016, where he is responsible for the supervision and regulation of Ohio-chartered banks, credit unions, savings and loan associations, and savings banks; the licensing and examination of money transmitters conducting business in Ohio; and licensure of non-depository financial service providers, including check cashers, credit service organizations, mortgage brokers, mortgage loan originators, pawnbrokers, premium finance companies, short-term lenders, small loan act lenders, and mortgage loan act lenders.

Involved in supervision and regulation for over 30 years, Kevin began his career as a field examiner in 1986 with the former Division of Savings and Loan Associations, later being appointed as Chief Examiner for Banks and Savings Institutions, and since 2011 has served as Deputy Superintendent for Banks and as Deputy Superintendent for Savings and Loan Associations and Savings Banks.

Kevin presently serves as a part of the State Liaison Committee on the Federal Financial Institution Examination Council (FFIEC) Task Force on Supervision (TFOS) and is also on the Board of Trustees for the American Council of State Savings Supervisors (ACSSS).

Kevin is a graduate of the Ohio Bankers League, Bank Leadership Institute and is also past Chairman and trustee for the Institute for Supervisory Education. He earned his Bachelor of Science in Accounting from the University of Akron in May, 1985.
