Mobile Search & Rescue Trailer

The Division of State Fire Marshal's Ohio Fire Academy has a new training tool for firefighters throughout the State of Ohio.

The Mobile Search and Rescue Lab is the first of its kind in Ohio and will offer a variety of customizable search and rescue training options to any fire department throughout the state. The $75,000 state-of-the-art trailer, which simulates residential search, can be reserved by fire departments beginning April 4, 2011.

The Mobile Search and Rescue Lab:

- Simulates residential search and rescue
- Features a confidence maze to challenge firefighters both mentally and physically
- Is configurable for basic, intermediate and advanced training sessions
- Was designed and built by Academy instructors to help reduce the number of firefighter and civilian injuries
- Is 48 feet long and accommodates up to 25 firefighters in a single training session
- Is available for training beginning April 4, 2011

Take advantage of this unique, cost-saving opportunity for your fire department today. The Ohio Fire Academy will deliver the training to your firefighters with one of the following options: the trailer with an approved training course that can be delivered by fire department personnel; the trailer with an 8 hour course conducted by Ohio Fire Academy instructors; or a 16 hour advanced course conducted by Ohio Fire Academy Instructors.

In addition to the Mobile Search and Rescue Lab, the Ohio Fire Academy is also introducing a new Mobile Fire Behavior Lab that can be delivered directly to fire departments in Ohio. The new Mobile Fire Behavior Lab has increased student capacity, reduced heat exposure and improved safety.
